ACCIDENT KILLS WIFE

Winthrop Harbor Man Sees Wife Fall From Shot that He Fired

WOMAN DIED AT HOSPITAL

Josef Durik Was Cleaning a Rifle When It Exploded and Shot Tore Through Woman's Left Knee

While she stood with one hand grasping the handle of the baby buggy in which her 11-month-old child was lying, Mrs. Josef Durik, of Winthrop Harbor, Saturday afternoon received a fatal wound when the Winchester rifle which her husband was unloading discharged and the large bullet tore through her left knee.

Mrs. Durik was taken to the McAllister hospital in Waukegan at 9 o'clock Saturday night and at 11 o'clock she died.

The accident happened about 4:30 Saturday afternoon. Durik was unloading a large bore Winchester rifle. Just a few feet away, his wife stood watching him. With one hand she pushed a baby buggy to and fro. In the buggy was an 11-month-old child.

Durik took two shells from the magazine of the rifle. The third shell exploded and with a cry, Mrs. Durik sank to the ground. The bullet had torn through her left knee, completely shattering it and tearing a large hole through the knee.

Durik frantically called for aid and Dr. Bellows of Waukegan was immediately telephoned for. He went to Winthrop Harbor on the electric, and was met there with a horse and buggy. Then he was taken to the Durik home.

The family lives just over the state line in Wisconsin, north of Winthrop Harbor and directly on the bluff.

In the meantime neighbors had done what they could, but a terrible loss of blood had been suffered by the woman.

It was 5:30 when Dr. Bellows reached the woman. He attended her and at 6:30 telephoned for the Larson & Conrad ambulance, and the woman was taken to the Jane McAllister hospital, arriving at nine in the evening.

The shock and the great loss of blood proved too much for her and at 11 o'clock she died.

At the inquest the husband told the complete story of the accident. He stated that his wife was only 26 years old. They have three small children. The father is employed as a blacksmith in Winthrop Harbor.

Durik holds a good reputation. The whole village sympathizes with him in his awful trouble. He and his wife lived happily together.

G. J. GERITY IS FIRST

Highest in Illinois Butler Test—Only 26 Entries in This First of Six Tests

The first Illinois scoring contest of 1907 was held in Chicago July 10, having only 26 entries. Butler was scored by H. J. Credicott, United States butter inspector of Chicago. The highest scores were as follows:

G. J. Gerity, Millburn Co-operative creamery, 95½.

J. F. Moscrop, Beatrice creamery, Chicago, 95.

The number of entries was a disappointment as only a small number of those who sent in cards entered in this scoring.

The quality of this July butter showed a decided improvement in the first scoring over last year. The workmanship throughout the entire lot was very satisfactory, excepting the use of too high temperatures in a few of the tubs, leaving the body weak and a little slushy.

The Awakening Chinese.

The Chinese at Singapore, to the number of 180,000, have resolved to discontinue the practice of public ancestor worship, including feasts and public processions, and devote the money thus saved, estimated at $100,000 a year, to educational purposes.

Accusing Conscience.

The hardest of all ordeals for an honest man is to stand arraigned at the bar of his own conscience. He knows more than the keenest counsel, the most vindictive enemy could urge for a verdict of guilty.—Weaver.

Few Call Attention to It.

You never hear a man who had only $50 when he was married, boasting about it before his yearly income passes the $10,000 mark.

MORLEY BARN DESTROYED

Fire Is of Unknown Origin But Started Near the Roof.

Saturday evening between the hours of eight and nine o'clock the residents of our town were aroused by the cry of fire followed by the loud clanging of the fire bell.

The fire proved to be in the barn belonging to J. J. Morley, situated directly back of his saloon on Main street.

When the fire was discovered the whole roof of the building was ablaze, but as it seemed to have caught somewhere in the upper part of the barn there was sufficient time in which to remove the horse, wagon etc., before the heat drove them back.

A bucket brigade was hastily formed and the hose cart rushed to the scene.

Before the fire was discovered it had gained such headway that it was useless to try to save the burning building and the firemen turned their attention to other nearby buildings to save them from catching fire from the heat and sparks.

The building that was in the most danger was a new barn belonging to L. B. Grice, which stood between thirty and forty feet east of the Morley barn, and it was only by much hard labor that it was saved from destruction. At one time it was smoking and it was quite badly scorched near the eaves.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed that it was caused by some person who was smoking, dropping either a burning match or the lighted stub of a cigar.

Fortunately there was no wind or it would have been impossible to have prevented the fire from spreading, and had it once gained headway among the numerous barns and sheds in all probability a considerable portion of the west side of Main street would have been wiped out.

The barn was full of alfalfa hay, the last of which had been placed there Saturday afternoon.

Fred Porter was also a loser by the fire, as he had most of his clothing in the building and it was consumed by the flames.

The barn was a complete loss as there was no insurance on either the barn or its contents. Mr. Morley will erect a new barn at once, but he has not as yet decided whether it will be of brick or cement blocks.

FAKERS CAUSE MUCH ANNOYANCE

Fakers representing themselves as agents of the Illinois Optical Company, of Waukegan and Chicago, are causing the Waukegan concern much trouble in the states of Michigan and Iowa.

The fakers are selling spectacles which they guarantee for five years, when as every one knows most eyes have to be refitted within a year or two.

They are also selling brass rims for gold with the same fake guarantee.

The Illinois Optical Company, is headed by R. M. Ingalls, of Waukegan, and is a reputable business firm which at present has no agents out, but is filling orders. It is regularly chartered by the state.

Naturally Mr. Ingalls is much annoyed over the matter.

CONFUSION IF PRIMARY LAW IS THROWN OUT

Of more interest than candidates and platforms at the present time is the fate of the primary law which has been before the Supreme court for a number of months where its validity has been questioned and attacked on many lines.

Since the death of Justice Wilkin the court has consisted most of the time of six members and term after term has passed without a decision in the primary case. This has led to the well founded belief that the count was a tie. Judge Dunn who succeeded Judge Wilkin entered upon his duties at the June term and in the long interim between that and the October term it is believed, that at least four of the judges will come to some agreement on the primary case.

There is a feeling in all political circles that the law will be declared unconstitutional. Some candidates for office will welcome such a decision. Others will not but if such a decision is rendered some interesting points will bob to the surface. By the time the court adjourns in October the legislature will probably have completed its work and adjourned so that if an adverse decision is handed down the Governor will have to call an extra session if anything is done to replace the law.

Whether anything but a direct primary law could be passed or not is a very serious question. It is believed that anything short of a pure direct primary law would meet defeat, but on the other hand it is equally as probable that a direct primary bill would not muster many more than a majority.

BOYS TO RECEIVE BENEFIT

"Eruption of Vesuvius" to Show at Washington Park Beginning Aug. 12

BENEFIT ALLENDALE FARM

School is One That Gives a Square Deal to Friendless Waifs and is Located at Lake Villa

Fifty boys who are charges of the Allendale farm at Lake Villa, are to be the beneficiaries of a fortnight performance of Pain's "Eruption of Vesuvius," given under the management of the directors of the institution at the Washington park race course, in Chicago, beginning Aug. 12.

Arrangements have been made with the proprietors of the exhibition whereby the farm will receive the net profits of the engagement, the business and financial direction of which will be entirely in the hands of the association. In this way, it is hoped to overcome a threatened deficit in the farm's treasury and to make it possible to increase the number of boys in its charge.

The farm, under the direction of Capt. Edward L. Bradley, cares for fifty delinquent boys, taken from the bar of the Juvenile court at the crisis of their lives. Its purpose is to give these neglected children a square deal—a home, good influences, discipline and work. In their little community they become their own judges, their own prosecutors, and they are thus taught the ideas of good citizenship.

The association takes charge of them at the average age of seven years, and exercises control over them until they are 21. Many of the graduates are in positions of trust in Chicago, and one of them was president of his class at Lake Forest University last year. The expense of maintaining the fifty boys and their school is $1,000 a month.

BOY FALLS ON PITCH FORK

Tines Pierce Chest But Accident Will Not Prove Fatal

While pitching hay on the Keith farm on Sheridan Road near Waukegan Saturday afternoon, Jesse Smith, a nineteen year old boy, fell on a pitchfork, one tong of which penetrated his chest, just above his heart.

He is at present at the hospital and is resting easy, although his wound is a dangerous one.

Just how the accident happened is not known. The boy states that he was pitching hay when either by slipping or the overturning of the stack on which he was working he fell and struck on the fork.

The point penetrated the chest cavity deeply, just above the heart. Had it struck a little lower, almost instant death would have resulted.

The boy was hurried to Dr. Knight's office where the wound was dressed, and was afterward taken to the hospital.

He has been in this country about six months.

MOTOR RACES AT FOX LAKE

The Fox Lake Motor Boat Club, of which Mayor Busse of Chicago is president will hold its first series of races Sunday, August 4th, at Fox Lake, on the shores of which Mayor Busse owns a farm.

The smaller power boats, which comprise the greater number of entries, will make one circuit of the eight mile course, and the larger ones, two circuits.

The Minoia Hotel management has put up a cup to go to the winner of the club's feature event each year.

President Michaelson of the Illinois Paint Company, of Chicago has entered his twenty-five foot gasoline launch. W. C. Thurn of Montgomery Ward & Company will probably enter his forty foot motor boat.

Upper Nigeria Advancing.

The finger-print system has reached southern Nigeria. In October it was started for the identification of criminals, and 152 impressions and photographs were taken.

Stove Polish.

To give a stove a brilliant appearance a teaspoon of pulverized alum mixed with common stove polish will give the stove a fine luster which will be quite permanent.

ANTHRAX IN LAKE COUNTY

Plague Spreads Among Herds in the Neighborhood of Gilmer

ONE FARMER LOSES ELEVEN

Plague Believed to Have Originated in Hides Shipped to the Tannery Located at Barrington

The deadly anthrax is spreading among the cattle of Lake County. First reports were scanty and did not show facts in regard to the district in which the plague got its start and reached its present climax.

Now a tabulation of losses shows over thirty cattle prey to the disease and the state of Illinois has intervened to save the herds of Lake County.

Reports that anthrax had invaded the herds, first reached this section last week, but could not be substantiated.

A careful investigation shows that the losses so far are confined to a section about Gilmer, Lake County Ill.

The losses are as follows, H. W. Schwermann, herd of 11 dead, also 5 hogs and three more cows ill. Henry Popp, lost 1 of his herd, others sick. H. Younker, 5 cattle dead. Mrs. Kurz, lost 1.

The rapidity with which the pest gets in its work may be judged from the fact that one of the Schwermann cattle went to the trough to get a drink of water, turned its head as it reached the water and dropped dead on the spot.

Dr. Butterfield, a veterinary of Libertyville, who is assistant deputy state veterinary, has been dispatched to the scene by the state veterinary.

He makes the admission that the cattle disease is really anthrax, and is burying all carcasses with quicklime to prevent the spread of the disease.

It is usual to burn the carcasses as when they are burned without lime, the anthrax bacillus permeates the soil and travels for miles on the dust and in the winds, so that its spread even in a day may be something terrific.

Where cattle are killed the state appraises the carcasses and pays the farmer a fair price for the beef.

There was an anthrax epidemic between three and five years ago, in the same district and the germs were traced to hides brought to the tannery at Barrington from out west, or in fact from all the states of the union.

It is believed that the tannery is also responsible for this epidemic, the hides of cattle infected with anthrax being the cause.

The anthrax bacillus will also affect the constitution of man and is deadly.

Veterinary Butterfield is resorting to vaccination among the cattle about Gilmer, and has already vaccinated scores to ward off the anthrax by inoculation. This is the only approved preventative for the disease the ravages of which are so terrible and rapid.

HEIN ORNSTEIN EMPLOYEES PICNIC AT DRUGE LAKE

The Hein-OrNSTEIN Co. picnic, held at Druge Lake Sunday, proved a most enjoyable affair. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hein and Son, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. OrNSTEIN and children, the employees of both the Waukegan and Kenosha stores, and about a dozen guests, each employee having been asked to invite a friend. The day was most pleasantly passed in boating, swimming, fishing and games. At noon, and again in the evening, repasts were served which were not only a credit to the firm's forethought, but the additions to the menu provided by the young ladies will no doubt do much to cause them at a nearer date than otherwise to desert this popular firm to reside over homes of their own and exercise their culinary skill largely to please one.

Money in Canary Birds.

The breeding and selling of canary birds in Germany, which has reached such proportions that it now controls the markets of the world, is conservatively estimated of a value of $238,000.

Emperor's Magnificent Crown.

The crown worn by the Austrian emperor, which is regarded as one of the finest works of European goldsmiths contains over $500,000 worth of gold and jewels.

A NEW HARNESS STORE

B. F. VanPatten and Son Will Begin Business the Middle of August.

Mr. B. F. Van Patten who has been engaged in the saloon business at this place for many years, closed his place of business on Wednesday, July 31.

For a number of years he was associated with J. J. Morley under the firm name of Morley & VanPatten. About five years ago after fire had swept away his property on the east side of Main street, he joined with W. H. Osmund and A. N. Tiffany & Company in erecting a brick block, then severing his connection with Morley he moved into his new building and set up in business for himself.

Mr. VanPatten has recently decided to quit the saloon business in Antioch and he with his son Ben will fit up a first class harness shop and will carry a full line of harness, and supplies of all kinds, in the VanPatten building, the new firm to be known as VanPatten & Son.

Ben has had several years experience in the business and is thoroughly competent to serve the demands of the public. He has become an expert workman and is capable of doing the neatest kind of repairing. In fact his employer for whom he has worked every since he has been at Delevan, is very loth to have him leave.

He is a pleasant genial young man well known here and we bespeak a successful future for the new firm. Their place will be open for business just as soon as their stock of goods which has already been ordered, arrives and is put in place.

B. F. VanPatten will continue the management of his saloon at Lake Villa, but will continue to reside at this place.

PREMIUM LISTS FOR COUNTY FAIR ARE MUCH LARGER

The fifty-fourth annual Lake county fair will take place at the fair grounds in Libertyville, Sept. 3, 4, 5 and 6. Preparations have been going on for many weeks.

The Lake county fair has always been an event of importance in this section of the state and is attended by people from miles around. It is undoubtedly one of the best and largest fairs in the state.

The premium lists have been printed and in circulation for the past two weeks, and are much in demand. There has been an increase made in nearly every department in the prizes offered for the different exhibits and will, without doubt, increase the number of exhibitors.

The first day, Tuesday, Sept. 3, will be devoted entirely to the making of entries which may be made as late as 11 a. m., on the day following. This is done to give every one an opportunity to make exhibits, if they so desire, and also to allow the time to display their belongings to the best possible advantage.

A large number of premium lists have been mailed throughout the county to patrons of the fair and others who desire them should notify J. B. Morse, secretary, of Libertyville.

FARMERS HUNT FOR LOST HORSE

People living in the town of Randall, near the village of Genoa Junction had some real excitement on Sunday in a chase for a horse belonging to John Trumblee and a wagon belonging to W. H. Harrison Supervisor of assessments in the county.

The horse had been borrowed from Trumblee early in the morning by a man employed by one of the ice companies, and he took possession of the Harrison wagon without making any arrangements with the owner.

The farmers in the neighborhood believed that the horse and wagon had been stolen and they started out after it in great shape. An automobile was called into service and the horse and wagon as well as the man were finally found in a livery barn at Crystal Lake. The man who had taken the horse and wagon consented to return to Randall with them and he will not be prosecuted.

Only Road to Success.

If you want to succeed in the world you must make your own opportunities as you go on. You cannot commit greater folly than to sit by the roadside until some one comes along and invites you to ride with him to wealth or influence.—John B. Gough.

The Only Newness.

Assum—You were at the opening performance of Fakier's comedy last night, weren't you? Anything new about it? Crittiek—Well, the people who laughed at the jokes were evidently new.

Queer, Indeed!

"The face of the returns," said the chairman of the meeting, "shows 87 ayes and no noes." "What a queer looking face that must be!" remarked an old lady in the back row.

FOURTH ANNUAL PICNIC

Waukegan Day Picnic to be Celebrated on Monday, August the 5th

GOV. DENEEN WILL SPEAK

More and Better Attractions Than Ever Before Have Been Arranged—Weather Guaranteed by Prof. Irl R. Hicks

All arrangements for the fourth annual Waukegan Day celebration, the greatest day ever held in northern Illinois, have been perfected, and it bids fair to be an event in Waukegan and Lake county history long to be remembered. The attractions are more and better than ever before, and the management deserve much credit for their selections.

The day begins with the arrival of Gov. Chas. S. Deneen, who will be the speaker of the day, Congressman Geo. Edmund Foss, Representatives Shurtliff, Gibbons and Cover, Senator A. N. Tiffany, Judges Donnelly and Wright and other guests of prominence.

An industrial, labor, military and floral parade, representing the industries, societies and institutions of the city and reaching over a distance of more than three miles, will be one of the most attractive features of the day. Many valuable prizes will be offered for novel and representative features. Six bands will be in the line of march.

Another novel and interesting feature of the day's program will be a baby show. There will be two classes, babies under one year of age and babies from one to three years of age. Prizes will be awarded.

A carnival of field sports and races for both young and old with valuable prizes for winners.

There will also be scientific boxing, bag punching and wonderful feats of strength and skill by members of the Cub's Athletic Club.

Another feature, which has been secured at a great expense and which should prove an interesting attraction is a collection of one thousand song birds from all climes, consisting of twenty-one different varieties, which will be suspended in cages under the trees. The beautiful bird chorus will present a constantly moving and beautiful panorama of nature's own system of color. This intensely interesting and instructive feature alone will be worth traveling miles to see and hear.

There will be a cage of fifteen monkeys, a cage of five baboons and a cage of baby lynx. A fine specimen of a ring tailed monkey will be given away free to some lucky person.

At night at the ball park by electric illumination will be held three six-round boxing contests to a decision between well known men. This unusual event will be arranged by the matchmaker of the Cubs Athletic Club, who insures lively and exciting bouts.

Prof. Irl R. Hicks, the great weather prophet, has been consulted in regard to the weather conditions on that day and promises an ideal day.

Future Looked Dim.

Nelson, a child of five, was becoming acquainted with his Uncle Will. They were considering questions of earthly life, with its manifold perplexities and rules of conduct, and the life and hope in the hereafter. In an attempt to make the idea perfectly clear to the boy the uncle said: "Now, you know that your grandmother is dead and has gone to Heaven." After a minute or two of deep thought Nelson looked up into his uncle's face and said: "We'll never see her again, will we, Uncle Will?"

Good Battery.

A Philadelphia girl who was married the other day admits she was attracted by the young man's baseball pitching. Good combination. He was the pitcher, she the catcher.

Or Perhaps Sixteen.

Once in a while you see a girl who doesn't care if people know how old she is. She is usually 17.—Somerville Journal.

Canada Thistle Notice.

Notice is hereby given to all property owners, occupants or renters, in the town of Antioch, to cut all Canada Thistles and noxious weeds growing on their land or upon the highway along in front of their land, before allowing the same to mature seed, under penalty of the law as prescribed by the statutes of the state of Illinois. # The Mystery OF Carney-Croft

By JOSEPH BROWN COOKE
(Copyright, 1907, by Story-Press Corporation.)

The poor fellow's distress was so great that, a moment later, as I stood by his side at the door, I could not resist laying my hand on his shoulder and saying gently:

"Why don't you brace up, Mr. Carney? It isn't too late by any means. Just think of all that life has to offer you. You are a man of great wealth, the head of one of the best known families in the country, and everything that heart could wish for lies before you. Think it over, old man, think it over! Think of your sister, and—Miss Weston, and yourself, Carney; yourself, above all else, and leave the confounded stuff alone!"

As I uttered the last words he recoiled from me as if I had been the plague and muttered hoarsely, "My God, Ware, you don't think I am drunk, do you?"

Before I could reply he had hurried through the door, down the stairs and into the street.

CHAPTER IV.

Little Bobbs.

I followed him as rapidly as possible, hoping to overtake him and, at least, persuade him to return to my office until his excitement had cooled somewhat, but I reached the street only in time to see him turn the corner and mingle with the bustling crowd.

At the same instant a little man, not over five feet in height, and dressed in a coarse drab, Norfolk jacket and tightly fitting trousers, turned in hurriedly from the opposite direction and collided with me with some violence.

"Beg pardon, sir," he panted, recovering himself with an effort and pulling off his cap respectfully. "Beg pardon, sir. I'm looking for Mr. Ware's office, sir. Mr. Frederick Ware, sir. Is this the place, sir?" and he placed his hand on his chest and gasped noisily in his endeavor to catch his breath.

"Mr. Ware's office is upstairs," I replied, "and I am Mr. Ware. Who are you?"

"Thank ye, sir," he said gratefully, an expression of relief lighting up his face. "I'm Bobbs, sir. Little Bobbs, they calls me, sir." Still holding his cap in his hand he pulled his forelock and bowed with the grace of an east-side dancing master.

"Very well, Bobbs," I said, completely puzzled. "Now what do you want?"

"Why, I want Mr. Carney, of course, sir," he replied. "I'm his man, you know, sir, and he told me to meet him here in half an hour."

"So you are Mr. Carney's servant, eh?" I queried.

He nodded respectfully and touched his forelock again.

"Well," I continued, "Mr. Carney has gone and you won't be able to overtake him, so there is no use in your trying. Moreover, I want to see you myself in the office for a few minutes."

He followed me upstairs and sat down gingerly on the edge of a chair, twirling his cap between his hands and twiddling his thumbs nervously. I watched him for a moment in silence and then, an idea striking me, I unlocked the small cupboard in my desk, took out a bottle and a glass and, placing them before him, said solicitously: "You are completely exhausted, Bobbs; better take a little of this."

His face was perfectly frank and honest as he said, politely, "Thank ye kindly, sir, but I never touch it. I'll be all right in a minute, sir."

I returned the bottle and glass to their places, fully satisfied with the result of my little experiment and convinced that the fellow had spoken the truth and could be relied upon in every way.

"How long have you been in Mr. Carney's employ?" I asked, as I turned the key in the lock.

"Three years, come next autumn," he replied promptly.

"And did you never drink anything in your life, Bobbs?" I continued, for I was working out a definite line of questions.

"Well, sir," he rejoined, rather uncomfortably I thought, "I can't say as I've always been teetotal, sir, an' I used to take a drop now and then and again, sir. But since Mr. Carney got this way, sir, I gave it up entirely. It wouldn't do for me to be drinkin' now, you know, sir."

"No, it wouldn't," I said emphatically. "You are quite right, Bobbs, and you are a faithful fellow to give it up as you have."

"Thank ye, sir," said Bobbs.

"How long has Mr. Carney been in this condition?" I asked.

Bobbs looked at me in an undecided fashion for a moment and then blurted out: "Why, I don't know, sir, as I ought to be talkin' of his affairs so much, sir. It don't seem to me as it's quite right, sir."

I appreciated the fellow's devotion and loyalty to his master's interests and hastened to reassure him.

"It's all right, Bobbs," I said. "You may talk to me perfectly freely for I understand everything. You know, Mr. Carney himself was here for some time this morning."

Bobbs looked relieved and proceeded without further diffidence.

"Why, I should say, sir, it's goin' on about two years now. You know, he had some trouble or other on his mind when he went away, sir, an' it seemed to prey on him more an' more all the time. After a while he began gettin' in with those people, which I suppose was a relief to him and kept his thoughts off the other thing. At first it was only occasionally when he got to feelin' specially downhearted, but it wasn't long before he was with 'em all the time, sir. I begged and begged him to keep away from 'em, for you know as well as I do, sir, that only one thing could come of it, but he wouldn't listen to me and things kept goin' from bad to worse."

"At the beginning he kept up his interest in the business pretty well, but finally he lost all track of that, and then it wasn't many months before he couldn't attend to it whether he wanted to or not. That was the time I quit drinkin', sir, for I saw that he needed every minute of my time, day and night, or at least that he might need it."

"His neglectin' the business as he did wasn't any harm, you know, sir, for it's so well managed that it could almost run itself, but I did wish that he had worked off his bad feelin' in the office, 'stead of the way he did. My heart aches for him all the time, sir," continued the faithful fellow, brushing away a tear with his knuckle, "but he got so obstinate that nobody could do a thing with him an', anyway, I could have managed him myself if anyone living could."

"You think there is no chance for you think he will reach the hotel safely?"

"No doubt about that, sir," said Bobbs. "If he has any trouble or should get—or daisy or anything, he'll take a cab, sir. The way he can keep his head is wonderful, sir."

He had risen to go as I asked my last question.

"Bobbs," I said, earnestly, "I want you to tell me something. What, in heaven's name, does Mr. Carney drink, to keep him in this condition?"

"What does he drink, sir?" exclaimed Bobbs in a half frightened tone and viewing me with evident and sudden suspicion. "Why, I thought you knew, sir! I thought you knew!" and before I could stop him, he, like his master, had rushed out of the office into the street.

CHAPTER V.

A Question of Guessing.

Some men are so stupid at times that one wonders how they get on in life at all, and after a few moments of ridiculously profound thought, I was quite ready to consign myself to this class. Here was a man, obviously a slave to a habit which was slowly but surely eating his very life away, who virtually admitted his shortcomings in the plainest of English, and yet who rushed from my presence in horror and disgust when I attempted to persuade him to leave intoxicants alone! Here was his servant, an honest, trustworthy fellow, who not only admitted his master's failings but gave many details of his unfortunate downfall, and yet who regarded me with suspicion and dread when I ventured to ask him a most natural question! And here was a fool of a lawyer who could not see through a millstone with a hole in it!

I reached for the telephone and called up MacArdel.

"Well, What is it?"

him now, Bobbs?" I inquired anxiously.

"Not one in a million, sir," answered Bobbs, sadly. "He's too far gone now, sir. He was takin' the cure for a time an' we began to have some hopes of him, but it wasn't any use, an' the first thing we knew he was as bad as ever."

"I wonder he came back at all," I remarked. "I shouldn't have thought he would have felt inclined to do."

"I didn't think he'd come, myself," said Bobbs, "but he insisted upon it, and, as I told you a minute ago, there's no changing him now when he once gets an idea in his head, so we packed up and came. He said he had some matters to attend to with you that he must see about at once, sir."

"Yes," I replied, "he arranged certain affairs with me this morning."

"Well," said Bobbs, "I'm glad that's done, for it will be a great load off his mind."

"Where do you suppose he has gone now?" I asked. "He left here very hurriedly and I wonder if he will get into trouble." My calmness of mind was due to the fact that, under the circumstances, I should not have cared if he had broken his neck.

"Oh! he'll get back to the hotel, sir," returned Bobbs confidently. "He told me to get the tickets for to-night and a few other things he needed and then meet him here, or at the hotel if he had left here. You know he is going home to-night, sir."

"Yes," I said, "but he tells me he does not expect to stay there long. Do you know what his plans are?"

"I haven't the slightest idea, sir," said Bobbs. "He never tells anyone what he is going to do, and he's in such a bad way now that I fancy he's as likely to go one way as another, sir. But I'll stick to him, sir; you may be sure of that. I must be going now for he may need me. You know, sir, he's not always as bad as you've seen him to-day. It's only at times, sir, that he gets like this."

"I should hope so," I returned. "And

"Hello, Mac!" I said. "Busy to night?"

"Nothing special," he replied, laconically. "What's up?"

"Dine with me at the club at seven, will you?" I asked. "I want you to tell me something."

"All right," said MacArdel. "Seven sharp, and I'll order the dinner. Good-by," and he hung up his receiver with a snap.

I did not resent MacArdel's abruptness, for I knew he had a room full of people waiting to see him and the fact that he was to order the dinner was enough to make a man forgive anything short of an unpardonable sin.

MacArdel was late, of course. He was born half an hour after he was expected and his time-table through life has always been that much behind to a second; so I called for the things and made the cocktails myself. I cannot order a dinner as MacArdel can, but I can construct a cocktail that would make the nectar of the gods taste like Bloomers coffee.

The dinner was as good as the cocktail and we went to the roof for our coffee and cigars.

MacArdel tipped back in his chair and rested his heels on the broad coping, for we were sitting in a secluded corner, back of a pillar, and the only light we had came from the restless city far below us, sparkling and glittering like the reflection of a September sky at midnight. An occasional glimmer of moonlight broke through the fleecy, scudding clouds, so that, from time to time, we caught glimpses of each other as we lazily puffed our cigars.

It was a dreary night and a dreamy place and I dreaded to bring up the disagreeable topic that we had met to discuss. So we slipped our coffee and smoked our cigars almost oblivious of each other's presence. But when the fresh cigars were lighted, MacArdel yawned impolitely, as was his habit when we were alone, and said briefly:

"Well, what is it?"

TO HONOR WAR GOVERNOR.

G. A. R. Post Starts Movement for Yates Monument.

Jacksonville.—Matt Starr post G. A. R., started a movement to build a monument to War Gov. Yates, and appointed a committee to arrange to bring the matter before the next state encampment. They will ask the legislature to appropriate a sum for a monument to be erected in front of the state house. The argument will be "what Indiana did for Morton Illinois should do for Yates." The remains of the war governor lie buried in Diamond Grove cemetery and are designated by a small unpretentious monument.

Is Pe-ru-na Useful for Catarrh?

Should a list of the ingredients of Pe-ru-na be submitted to any medical expert, of whatever school or nationality, he would be obliged to admit without reserve that each one of them was of undoubted value in chronic catarrhal diseases, and had stood the test of many years' experience in the treatment of such diseases. THERE CAN BE NO DISPUTE ABOUT THIS. EVER. Pe-ru-na is composed of the most efficacious and universally used herbal remedies for catarrh. Every ingredient of Pe-ru-na has a reputation of its own in the cure of some phase of catarrh.

Pe-ru-na brings to the home the COMBINED KNOWLEDGE OF SEVERAL SCHOOLS OF MEDICINE in the treatment of catarrhal diseases; brings to the home the scientific skill and knowledge of the modern pharmacist; and last but not least, brings to the home the varied experience of Dr. Hartman, in the use of catarrh remedies, and in the treatment of catarrhal diseases.

The fact is, chronic catarrh is a disease which is very prevalent. Many thousand people know they have chronic catarrh. They have visited doctors over and over again, and been told that their case is one of chronic catarrh. It may be of the nose, throat, lungs, stomach or some other internal organ. There is no doubt as to the nature of the disease. The only trouble is the remedy. This doctor has tried to cure them. That doctor has tried to prescribe for them.

BUT THEY ALL FAILED TO BRING ANY RELIEF.

Dr. Hartman's idea is that a catarrh remedy can be made on a large scale, as he is making it; that it can be made honestly, of the purest drugs and of the strictest uniformity. His idea is that this remedy can be supplied directly to the people, and no more be charged for it than is necessary for the handling of it.

No other household remedy so universally advertised carries upon the label the principal active constituents, showing that Pe-ru-na invites the full inspection of the critics.

Poor Paint is Expensive.

If one is rich enough to repaint his buildings every year for the pleasure of having a change of color scheme, the quality of the paint used may cut little figure. But if it is desirable to cut the painting bills down to the least amount possible per year, it is of the utmost importance that the paint be made of Pure White Lead and the best of Linseed Oil. There are imitations in the form of alkali White Lead, and there are substitutes in the form of ready-prepared paints.

We guarantee our White Lead to be absolutely pure, and the Dutch Boy on the side of every keg is your safeguard. Look for him.

WOMAN PUNISHED FOR PRACTICING BLACK ART

OLD MASSACHUSETTS SALEM DAYS ARE RECALLED IN A MINNESOTA COURT.

St. Peter, Minn.—Salem days and old world superstitions were brought to mind in a vivid manner by the testimony that was offered in a justice court here the other afternoon. An assault case was being tried and the defendant was Miss Ellen Peterson, an 18-year-old girl living in Lake Prairie township. She declares that witchcraft exists right in Nicollet county, and because she punished the woman she thinks is practicing the black art upon her she is serving a term in the county jail.

Miss Peterson regards Mrs. Martha Norlin, a neighbor, as her evil genius. After the preliminary questions, all of which were answered intelligently, Miss Peterson made a flat assertion that Mrs. Norlin had bewitched the entire Peterson household. She told how the evil influence of Mrs. Norlin had caused cows to go dry, prevented cream from rising, caused poultry came down and several horses went astray. They were not found for several hours and the incident was immediately recognized as "another spell" laid upon them by Mrs. Norlin. While the search for the horses was in progress the suspected author of all their annoyances drove past the farm and Miss Peterson and a married sister ran out to intercept her. Stopping her team they pulled her to the ground and pummeled her unmercifully and later she swore out a warrant charging the Peterson girl with committing an assault.

On the strength of the girl's story a Salem judge would have sent Mrs. Norlin to the stocks and possibly to the stake, but for some reason it failed to impress the St. Peter magistrate, and when Miss Peterson admitted using force he laconically remarked: "Sixteen dollars or 16 days." The defendant chose imprisonment.

The case is one of the strangest ever known in Nicollet county, and the antipathy exhibited by the Peterson family has thoroughly frightened Mrs. Norlin.

IS AT HIS OWN FUNERAL.

Man Surprises Mourners by Walking into Doleful Assemblage.

Meeteetse, Wyo.—James F. Willis, a Wyoming sheep herder, recently attended his own funeral. A body positively identified as that of Willis was found on the range south of here and taken to the home of a rancher near by. It was supposed that the man had been taken suddenly ill when alone on the range and had died a week or more before the body was discovered.

Arrangements for the funeral were made and a number of persons were assembled at the home of the rancher when the door opened and Willis walked in.

He learned by chance, he said, that a body supposed to be his had been found on the range and taken to the rancher's home, and that funeral services were being conducted there. He hastened thither to assure his friends that he was alive and well.

HOW IT FEELS TO GO TO BED WITH A RATTLESNAKE

HAIR RAISING EXPERIENCE WITH A REAL LIVE REPTILE IN ARIZONA.

Indianapolis, Ind.—A. Timberlake, druggist of this city was one day recently rehearsing the incidents of the day with a group of friends. The talk had drifted to "skeery" things and each one had related some thrilling experience of his past life.

"Umph! You fellows think that you have had narrow escapes, but they are not one, two, three, with one that I had several years ago in Arizona," began Mr. Timberlake. "Did any of you ever go to bed with a rattlesnake? Well, I did once, and I want to tell you that the memory of that event haunts me to this day."

"A party from Indianapolis, among them being myself, had gone down into Arizona to boom land interests. We had a scheme to irrigate some of that God forsaken territory and figured that we were going to get independently rich."

"We got out into the open country where the cactus and the chaparral

I Clutched the Snake by the Throat. grow like weeds. The latter of these growths has thorns on it about the size of those on a thorn tree, sharp as needles and distributed over the plant about as numerous as hair on a cat. Occasionally we would come to an open stretch and would be able to crawl under the chaparral, which interlaced at varying heights and formed a kind of canopy where the ground had failed to produce.

"To get under the branches one was compelled to get down on his hands and knees. This done, by worming along on the ground he would be able to cross to another open place." It came my turn to do this stunt, and I was at that time a considerable distance from the rest of the boys.

"I got down on my stomach and began to work myself along. At first the light was broken to such an extent that I could not see well, but all of a sudden I beheld, not four feet from me, a giant rattlesnake. He was all coiled up, but apparently was not alarmed, and was sleeping as they frequently do in that country during the day time."

"My first impulse was to keep on going and take a chance in being able to pass him, but presently I was horrified to observe his head rise up several inches and begin to swing around in my direction as though seeking me."

"I tried to back, but a thorn found its way into my body, and then another, followed by a third, so desperate with pain I decided that there was only one course, and that was to go ahead. With an inward prayer I crept closer to the reptile. Shutting my eyes I made a dive for his throat and caught him by the neck and close to the head."

"Nothing in the world would have made me loosen my grip on that slimy, squirming thing. I yelled for help with all my might, and between my own efforts and those of the snake, who battled strenuously for his life, whipping me in the face with his rattlers, I was rolled over and over in the chaparral."

"When help arrived I had killed the snake, but my clothes were almost scratched from my body, and I was punctured and bleeding from the thorns in two or three score places."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Ellis Corey declares he has no intention of resigning from the Steel Trust. What sort of a shock would it be, however, if the Steel Trust decided to resign from Mr. Corey?

Postmaster General von Myer has gone to the trouble of having notices printed for posting in all postoffices, calling the attention of the public to the fact that written messages cannot be put inside of merchandise or papers that are mailed at the one cent rate. In doing this small thing, he is really showing an interest in the smaller and more ignorant patrons of the mails. There is a mandatory fine of not less than $10 for this offense, though many people, and some not very ignorant either, never heard of the law. But ignorance is not accepted as an excuse, and the postoffice last year collected $59,065 in fines on this line alone, mostly from poor people who could ill afford to lose the money. With notices posted calling attention to the law it will be a citizen's own fault if he does not observe it. The step is a small one, as has been said, but it probably will save many thousand dollars in the aggregate to a class of citizens who have not many dollars to squander in fines.

Quite a large section of the press is trying to get up a states rights excitement over the railroad rate situation. Several of the states have passed railroad legislation affecting the lines within their own borders and in some of the states the railroads have declined to recognize the new law, holding that railroad legislation is a federal function and that individual states have made their mandatory rates so low as to amount to confiscation, which is of course contrary to the constitution. The first state in which there has been an absolute clash of state and federal authority has been in North Carolina, where Judge Long, the state judge, has fined the railroad $30,000 for nonobservance of the two cent fare law and has sentenced two of the ticket agents to work in the chain-gang in lieu of their paying a fine. Judge Prichard of the federal court has allowed a writ of habeas corpus and released the agents, declaring the state law unconstitutional. On this conflict of authority the excitement is based. As a matter of fact, there is not the least excuse for hysterics. By the action of the state and federal courts, the question of law in the case has been squarely and promptly raised. Nobody expects to see the governor of North Carolina call out the militia to keep the erring ticket agents in the chain-gang. Neither need anyone expect to see federal troops invade the soil of North Carolina to uphold Judge Prichard's decision. The case will simply go to the Supreme Court of the United States and probably will be on the docket for a prompt hearing owing to its importance. Before the case gets a chance to come to a hearing the American public will probably have had forty other sensations to interest it and when the decision of the Supreme Court is rendered, the newspapers will have to print a column of explanation along with it to remind people what it is all about. It may seem ungracious, but really, we cannot work up any excitement worth mentioning on the subject of state rights.

Furniture Mover's Advice.

A lady, who is a furniture remover, carrying on business at Manwell, has on her vans the following appeal to the public: "Don't worry—get married—and keep on moving."—London Evening Standard.

Those who have stomach trouble, no matter how slight, should give every possible help to the digestive organs, so that the food may be digested with the least effort. This may be done by taking something that contains natural digestive properties—something like Kodol For Indigestion and Dyspepsia. Kodol is a preparation of vegetable acids and contains the very same juices found in a healthy stomach. It digests what you eat. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Hope.

"Woman is naturally more hopeful than man," began the moralist. "Yes," interrupted the plain man. "There's my wife, for instance; every time she has had occasion to buy fish since we started housekeeping she has asked her dealer if they were fresh, hoping, I suppose, that some day he'll say 'no.'"

Fish Welcome Coming of Storm.

The weather has a noticeable effect on fish of all kinds. Fishermen will tell you that trout become electrified with energy before a storm. As if in joyful anticipation of a feast, sharks disport playfully about ships before a hurricane rises.

When a man is born he at once displays that fractious and fickle disposition which is so often significant of his future development—and woman has to carry him up and down in her arms, talking nonsense to him, or, as it is called, "baby language." She knows she has to begin that way because he would not understand sense.

"We never repent of eating too little," was one of the ten rules of life of Thomas Jefferson, president of the United States, and the rule applies to everyone without exception during this hot weather, because it is hard for food, even in small quantities, to be digested when the blood is at high temperature. At this season we should eat sparingly and properly. We should also help the stomach as much as possible by the use of a little Kodol For Indigestion and Dyspepsia, which will rest the stomach by digesting the food itself. Sold by J. H. Swan.

It was purchased by the present owner's great-grandfather. Carpets had been made at Wilton for 350 years, but the trade languished and finally stopped. No wonder, when a carpet lasted 150 years.

EVERY DAY A BARGAIN DAY

FROM now on until the last of the summer goods are gone every day will be a bargain day at this store. The various lines are too broken to attempt to go into details, but the remnants present money-saving opportunities too great to be ignored. We most positively assure our Antioch friends that there is not a day in the week at any time, but more especially is it true at this time, when they will not find it profitable to visit our stores, either at Waukegan or Kenosha.

We must turn in our advertisement to the News on Monday, and oftentimes this means that our plans for the big week end sales of each week are not perfected, therefore, we are not able to keep our country friends as fully informed in regard to same as we wish. But, nevertheless, we want you to take our word for it, that there is never a day that does not have its big opportunities.

We positively say, without fear of contradiction, that the woman in need of a Suit, Jacket, Skirt, Waist, or the hundred and one other things in women's wear that goes to make up our stock who fails to visit one of our stores is not doing herself justice either from a style or money-saving standpoint. Come in and let us prove this assertion.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidneys, poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. # W. D. HAYWOOD ACQUITTED OF STEUNENBERG MURDER

Jury in the Great Conspiracy Trial at Boise Finds Leader of West- ern Federation of Miners Not Guilty.

Boise, Idaho.—Into the bright sunlight of a beautiful Sabbath morning William D. Haywood, defendant in one of the most noted trials involving conspiracy and murder that the country has ever known, walked Sunday a free man, acquitted of the murder of the former Gov. Frank Steunenberg.

The probability of a verdict of acquittal in the case of the secretary-treasurer and acknowledged leader of the Western Federation of Miners had been freely predicted since Saturday, when Judge Fremont Wood read his charge, which was regarded as strongly favoring the defense. In its interpretation of the laws of conspiracy, circumstantial evidence and the corroboration of an accomplice who confesses.

It was also freely predicted that in the event of Haywood's acquittal the state would abandon the prosecution of his associates, Charles H. Moyer, the president of the federation, and George A. Pettibone, of Denver. Statements from counsel and from acquittal belongs to the same fraternal organization that I do. There was some talk of a compromise on a second degree verdict, but we would not stand for that—it had to be acquittal or I would have stayed there forever."

Statement by Haywood.
Sunday night Haywood issued the following statement: "I appreciate the support of the working class extended to us by workmen throughout the country.

"I do not have nor ill-will toward any person; I am charitable toward all. My intention is to go back to Denver and take up my work where I left off when I was placed under arrest.

"I do appreciate the kindness and consideration with which my family has been treated by the people of Idaho.

"I do appreciate, and in so stating, express the sentiments of my companions in jail, the courtesies extended

SKETCHES OF DEFENDANT IN GREAT CONSPIRACY CASE TAKEN IN COURT.

Gov. Gooding issued Sunday dispel this view of the situation.

Others Will Be Tried.
Gov. Gooding said:

"The verdict is a great surprise to me, and I believe to all citizens of Idaho who have heard or read the evidence in the case.

"I have done my duty. I have no regret as to any action I have taken, and my conscience is clear. As long as God gives me strength I shall continue my efforts for government by law and for organized society.

"The state will continue a vigorous prosecution of Moyer and Pettibone and Adams and of Simpkins when apprehended. There will be neither hesitation nor retreat."

Hastens to His Mother.
Haywood's first thought was of his aged mother, who Saturday had suffered a nervous breakdown after the jury had retired. Leaving the courtroom in company with Attorney Nugent, he walked down to the jail portion of the building, shaking hands as he went with guards, employees and friends who had arrived on the scene. He bade farewell to Moyer, who when he heard the verdict, said: "That's good," and to Pettibone, whom Darrow described to the jury as a "sort of Happy Holligan," and who called: "Give my regards to Broadway." Then Haywood walked to St. Luke's hospital and unannounced rushed into his mother's room. So great was the tonic upon the elderly woman that Sunday night she was up and about and happy. Next Haywood went to the little cottage where his wife and daughters have been stopping.

Jurors Explain the Verdict.
Inquiry among the jurors after their dismissal revealed some of the elements entering into their decision. Samuel D. Gilman, the last man to be won over to the defense, declared that a majority of the men seemed convinced that the general tone of the court's instructions indicated that the defendant should be freed. Finley McBean, who voted consistently for acquittal from the first, declared that the judge's instructions seemed to settle all doubt as to the course he should take.

Juror James Robertson, the good-natured Scotchman, at whose house here in Boise Gov. Steunenberg boarded for more than two years, said:

"I could not reconcile myself to voting any other way than with the defense from the very first, and I think that under the law and the evidence there was nothing else for us to do. The last fellow who held out against to us by Sheriff Hodgins, former Sheriff Moseley and his deputies.

"As to the outcome of the trial, I have never had any fear, and would have expressed Saturday the same belief I expressed when first arrested, that is, with a fair trial and an impartial jury the verdict would be such as has been given to the country.

"Senator Borah treated me most fairly, and I appreciate it.

"Judge Wood was eminently fair to me; and I have extended to him my thanks for his treatment of me during the ordeal of this trial.

CLARENCE DARROW.
(Chicago Lawyer who Aided in the Defense of Haywood.)

"I do not in any way blame Gov. Gooding for the position he took.

"In closing, I wish to express appreciation of the wonderful support given me by the presence in the courtroom during the trial of the representatives of labor, industrial and political organizations."

Calls on a Dying Man.

John Murphy, general counsel for the Western Federation of Miners, who, in spite of the fact that he is wasted to a skeleton by consumption, has almost daily occupied a place at the defense table throughout the trial, was unable to be present at the closing argument or scenes. He is now dying in the hospital here. Haywood called on him early Sunday, and scene between the two is said to have been most affecting. Haywood lifted the slight form of the dying man in his arms, and Murphy is quoted as saying between stifled gasps:

"Bill, in this hour of your great triumph, be humble and thankful."

FOURTEEN PERISH IN FIRE

DISASTER IN TENEMENT QUARTER OF NEW YORK CITY.

Explosion and Flames Wreck Building—Victims Are Caught Under Blazing Walls.

New York.—Nearly 100 panic-stricken men, women and children fought to escape from a burning East Side tenement that was wrecked by an explosion late Sunday night, and in the mad scramble at least 14 were killed and a score or more injured, half of them fatally.

The horror was a repetition of the periodical blaze that sweeps through the densely populated foreign section of the city, and is almost invariably attended with panic and death. The wrecked building was at 222 Christie street, where a six-story tenement rose above the grocery store basement. An explosion as yet unaccounted for tore out the front of the building and the fire that followed caught the 20 families, numbering about 100 persons, while most of them were sound asleep.

Of the injured many jumped from the windows, others were caught by falling timbers, many half suffocated by smoke were dragged from the hallways, while others received their wounds during the panic and mad fight among each other for an exit.

The tenement was occupied chiefly by Italians. A passerby was attracted by the explosion which apparently occurred on the basement floor. As he turned toward the building the whole front, with its flimsy fire escapes, fell into the street, and from the sagging floors a score of half awakened persons were dropped into the street.

Many of these were badly hurt, but they proved to be the more fortunate of the tenants; for in another moment the building was wrapped in flames and the cries of persons burning to death rent the air. In the wild panic that followed many received mortal injuries.

Of the dead and dying a large part are women and children. In the scramble for an exit and safety, the stronger in most cases survived.

POLICE SEIZE RED BANNERS.
Socialist Parade at Hancock, Mich., Broken Up with Clubs.

Hancock, Mich.—A socialist parade was broken up by police Sunday because many of the marchers carried red flags, in defiance of a recently enacted city ordinance.

When the policemen attempted to arrest those who were carrying red flags, the color-bearers resisted and were aided by many of the other marchers. Clubs were used freely and many fist fights occurred. No one was severely hurt. Thirteen marchers, including one woman, were arrested.

Sibley Law Is Upheld.

Omaha, Neb.—Judge W. H. Munger, in the federal court Friday handed down a decision holding that the Sibley law, passed by the last legislature, providing for a reduction of 25 per cent in express rates, is constitutional and denying the application of the express companies for a temporary injunction restraining the Nebraska railway commission from enforcing the law.

Battle Endangers MacLean.
Tangier, The Sherbrooke troops Saturday attacked villages belonging to the Kanassa tribe, in whose territory the bandit Rainsull holds Sir Harry MacLean prisoner. The troops burned and looted the village, killing many of the inhabitants and taking a large number of prisoners. As the battle was fought within six hours' journey of where MacLean is believed to be located, his position is regarded as more precarious than ever. It is feared that Rainsull may kill his captive if he is hard pressed.

WHY?

CONEY ISLAND AFIRE

SEVEN BLOCKS OF NEW YORK'S PLAYGROUND DESTROYED.
LOSS ABOUT $1,000,000

Luna Park and Dreamland Are Saved—Armless and Legless Wonder Rescued in a Basket.

New York.—Coney Island, the playground of New York's millions, was visited by a disastrous fire early Sunday and seven blocks in the amusement zone were completely destroyed. Tillyou's Steeplechase park, and nearly a score of small hotels were wiped out, and for a time the flames threatened destruction to Luna park and Dreamland, great homes of summer amusement, and the scores of smaller places which fringe the water's edge for a mile. A lucky shift of the wind to seaward aided the firemen, and probably saved the whole picturesque area, but not until a million dollars damage had been done. Three persons were injured, one of them, Gottfried Messerli, a fireman, probably fatally.

The alarm of fire woke up dozing Coney Island with a start, and in a few minutes Surf avenue was jammed with excited freaks and frolics, chorus girls, snake charmers, animal trainers, performers, amusement employees—all the miscellaneous population of the island, in fact. Clothed in a state of terror and little else, thousands fled through the streets.

Inside the burning park all was excitement and confusion among the two score employees who slept in a house near the entrance. Carrying grips and luggage they scurried to the street, and while the exodus was in progress a cry went up that San Dora, the armless and legless man, who eats a dozen meals a day just to show that he can do it without the aid of arms and legs, was missing. Seizing a basket, two employees hurried back and found San Dora wriggling along the floor toward the door. "The wonder" was piled into the basket and though the flames and smoke threatened to engulf his rescuers, he was carried to a hotel, where he remarked that his escape has been effected "without the loss of life or limb."

GUARD GRAVES OF ANCESTORS.

Three Indian Sisters Arm to Protect Old Huron Cemetery.

Kansas City, Mo.—Helena, Ida and Lida Conley, sisters, and Wyandotte Indians, began an armed guard Thursday over the graves of their ancestors in Huron cemetery in Kansas City, Kan., and threaten to shoot the first person who may attempt to remove the bodies.

Congress authorized the sale of the cemetery, set aside for many years as a tribal burying ground, and a division of the money among the remaining members of the Wyandotte tribe, first removing the bodies. The Conley girls say they won't permit the graves to be touched and they began the erection of a shanty on the outskirts of the cemetery. Miss Helena Conley, who was superintending the building, said: "From this time on one of the three Conley sisters will be here in the daytime. At night all three of us shall sleep here and guard."

"In this cemetery are buried one hundred of our ancestors. The blood of the ancient royalty of France flows in my veins. My grandfather owned the whole state of Ohio. Why should we not be proud of our ancestors and protect their graves? We shall do it, and we will be the man that first attempts to steal a body."

MIRACLES AT KANKAKEE.

Several Persons Announce Themselves Healed at St. Anne's Shrine.

Kankakee, Ill.—Thousands of persons attending the ninth day session of the novena of the shrine of St. Anne Friday saw several persons arise in St. Joseph's church and announce that they had been healed of infirmities.

Miss Mary Pierce, 18 years old, of Delphi, Ind., said that she had been afflicted with paralysis for four years, during which time she had been unable to walk. She left the church without support. Miss Daisy Lamond, of Kankakee, almost blind for 32 years, said she was able to read without glasses at the close of the nine days of prayer.

George Neary, of Lost Nation, Ia., and Michael McCormick, of Kinsman, Ill., both said they had been crippled from childhood. They walked from the church and said it was the first time they had walked since infancy.

Fatal Fire in Memphis.

FUEL FAMINE NOT LIKELY

VAST AREAS OF COAL LAND ARE OPENED UP OR AVAILABLE.

Acting Secretary of Interior Woodruff Calls Attention of Geological Survey.

Washington.—There is absolutely no necessity and little danger of a coal famine in the west and northwest. So declares Acting Secretary Woodruff of the interior department in a statement issued Friday concerning the coal area as developed by the geological survey. He says:

"Not including great areas of lignite, which will be mined only after the more valuable coal deposits are exhausted, the geological survey has determined that there are townships in the states and territories west of South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas, aggregating in all over 60,000,000 acres of land, each township of which contains, under its entire surface or part of it, workable deposits of coal. This work has been taken up with the utmost vigor during the present year and townships containing more than 28,000,000 acres in which workable coal exists have been examined and classified.

"When one remembers that these classified areas are most conveniently situated with reference to transportation and settled districts and that every acre of them is subject to purchase from the government under the coal land laws, and has been for several months; also that the Northern Pacific Railroad company alone is reputed to have in its own possession land containing over $300,000,000 worth of coal, and also that many hundred thousand acres of coal land scattered throughout the entire region containing coal have already passed into private holding—and in many instances contain large mining plants, it is easy to see that if there is to be a coal famine next winter, such a famine will result only from failure to mine the coal which is easily accessible, either by grant to railroads, purchase in the past by individuals and companies, or entry at the present time under the laws.

"The geological survey has 16 parties of trained experts advantageously scattered over the entire region containing coal. These mining engineers are daily adding to the areas classified and opened to entry. It is believed that by November 1 all land in the public land status known to contain workable deposits of coal will be classified and subject to entry."

Mr. Woodruff expresses the hope that the next congress may enact a leasing law which will permit companies to acquire control of more than the 640 acres now allowed to be purchased.

Of the coal land still held by the government over 25,000,000 acres is held at the minimum prices of ten dollars and $20 per acre, over 220,000 at $50 and over 30,000 at $15. This is in accordance with the classification made by the survey.

QUIET IN RANGE COUNTRY.

Gov. Johnson of Minnesota Talks of Strike Situation.

St. Paul, Minn.—Gov. Johnson returned Friday from the iron range country and Duluth where he went to look into the strike situation. When asked what he thought of the affair he said:

"Everything is quiet up there and so far as I could learn there is no immediate prospect that the state will have to interfere to keep things quiet. I went up there at the request of Sheriff Bates. I talked with all parties concerned and found them disposed to remain orderly. The men were sober and while they paraded the streets in the towns I visited they dispersed when the parade was finished and that was all there was to it. When asked why they paraded they answered that there was nothing else to do.

"I did not see any necessity of state interference and hope there will not be any. What the future may bring forth I am unable to predict.

Asked if he thought the strike would last long, Gov. Johnson said: "I am not able to say as I am not informed. I believe that if the dock strike is settled and the men begin to work so that the mines can be opened and shipments of ore begin, that the mines will be opened. Some of the men will return to work and that will bring matters to a focus. What the outcome will be I cannot say."

Magill Now in Clinton.

Clinton, Ill.—Sheriff Campbell and wife arrived at 2:10 Sunday morning over the Illinois Central from St. Louis, bringing Fred H. McGill and his bride, who are charged with the murder of his first wife, Mrs. Pat Magill. They were accompanied by R. A. Lemon, Magill's attorney, who had met them at St. Louis. Miss Marguerite Magill was not with them.

Flood in North St. Louis.
St. Louis.—A heavy rain Sunday choked up the big Branch street sewer, the mouth of which was already flooded by backwater from the Mississippi; and the huge drainage artery burst in North St. Louis, flooding an area occupied by six city blocks. The rush of water was so sudden that people living on lower floors barely escaped with their lives. Mrs. Henry Pabbe and her infant were dragged from an upper window by her husband just as the rising water was about to engulf them.

Eight of the men were executed in this city Monday morning. Nine other soldiers have been sentenced to penal servitude for life on the same charge. The government has discovered a new conspiracy at Quito and the leaders of this movement, fleeing from the capital, have arrived here and are in hiding with friends.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity.
